Dear AFG Colleagues & Friends,

Welcome to one more program, 2nd in the series entitled
"UPDATES IN PERINATOLOGY"

AFG programs, by tradition, are well attended and appreciated by a capacity crowd of distinguished delegates and the faculty of renowned consultants.

Once the baby delivers, the Obstetrician and the Neonatologist/ Paediatrician divide into opposite camps and the blame game starts if the baby doesn't do well. Perinatology is the subject which binds them - both the faculties are working towards a common goal: to give a healthy baby to the expectant mother. It is unfortunate that both the faculties do not see eye to eye at all times. It is our endeavour to create a common platform where not only the Obstetrician and Paediatrician but also the Fetal Medicine Consultant, the Geneticist and the Paediatric Surgeon can work together towards a common goal of giving a healthy baby to the expectant parents.

This session brings to you the current updates and methodologies/ protocols to optimize your perinatal outcomes. The worst fear after the baby delivers is that of Hypoglycemia - which is more perceived than real. We need to see this in proper perspective. Another common problem where opinions greatly differ is Hyperbilirubinemia. We need to standardize treatment protocols. We can achieve greater good if we start using Antenatal Steroids and MgSo4 regularly, liberally. If the baby develops fever or shows signs of infection after birth, the blame game begins: the Paediatrician blames the Maternity service and the Obstetrician vehemently refuses the responsibility. We shall discuss the Labour Room routines, Nursing home practices, how to maintain asepsis during transport and the protocols to prevent sepsis in the NICU in this forum in a Panel Discussion - which is the hall mark of the AFG tradition. Take advantage of this interactive session and solve your difficulties in comprehensive manner on 25/09/2016.

"Ran Symposia" are doing well and the students are benefitting to a great extent. It is our sincere desire for all of you to take advantage of this series and gain accreditation from MMC, besides sharing knowledge.

Watch out for a series of programs lined up for you....

Hope to see you all on the 25th September, 2016
